

Assignment 9/6/12:

1. Download the They Say, I Say excerpt from my website into iBooks
2. Read the “Introduction”; write down three points and/or questions about the chapter as you read and bring them to class for class discussion on Friday.
3. Log on to www.my.hrw.com and use the username and password you got in class to sign in.
 - a. Click on “go to online textbook”
 - b. Change the first drop down box to Unit 6: Contemporary Literature
 - c. Change the second drop down box to Letter from Birmingham Jail, hit GO
 - d. Click on “Accessible Pages” in the left hand contents
 - e. A pdf version of Letter from Birmingham Jail should pop up—open it in iBooks so you’ll have it saved there.
4. Read Letter from Birmingham Jail
 - a. Complete a chart similar to the one below (and using what you learned about “they say/I say”) while reading.
5. Be prepared when you come in to class Friday to have a class discussion about TS/IS (your three questions/points) and Letter in terms of the oh-so-very they say, I say structure MLK used.

THEY SAY	I SAY	Reasons and Evidence
King doesn’t belong in Birmingham because he is not from Birmingham.	“I am here because I have organizational ties here.”	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • leads the SCLC • invited by affiliated organization

Assignment for 9/7/12

Reread Letter from Birmingham Jail

Complete the Rhetorical Web Template worksheet you got in class using the letter

Be prepared for a class discussion on the rhetorical analysis of Letter Monday.